According to an article posed online by the Patriot News© Penn State Board of Trustees gave key approvals Friday to a set of major new education, research and patient treatment projects at Milton S. Hershey Medical Center, the flagship campus for Penn State Health.

The board:

- Gave final approval to plans and funding for a $29.2 million emergency department renovation and expansion
- Hired an architect to launch design of a major new research / education building to be known as Innovation Pavilion
- Approved a design build team for a new parking garage holding about 1,100 parking stalls.

According to the article, the four-story, approximately 300,000-square-foot building will be the largest new construction project on the Hershey campus since the opening of the College of Medicine in 1966. Project completion is expected in early 2022.
